Assignment 5.2

My sculptural is fat looking with different methods of green colours in different shades. I think of it to be very interesting to have different angles and sizes. It's not the same as every one elses work, People are different. What my thoughts are it looks like green mountains of a story book reference from Disney movie as Alice in Wonderland. My sculpture was about how the scenery would look like only with black and white. When I think about my sculpture, I put a lot of effort.
